

It's Not What You Thought

It's not what you thought.

Not what you first saw.

Not what you named it.

Something was there—
but not that.

You look again.

It shifts.

Or maybe you do.

What remains
isn't what you thought.

It never was.

